

MY VOICE MATTERS IN RESEARCH

Young people in the workshops told us about themselves and their hopes for the future

My Voice Matters in Research reflects a commitment to embedding equity, lived experience and inclusion at the root of knowledge generation and research mobilisation. This approach seeks to identify shared priorities, drive innovation and champion collaboration, ensuring representation and fairness are the seeds from which mental health research and practice grow.

